I'm a large cavernous structure known as a cave,
Come and explore me, you look quite brave,
On the side of a mountain, or underground,

The tunnels inside me weave about and around,
Stretched stalactites hang to my rooftops tight,
While tall stalagmites grow from the floor with might,

I'm a cavernous cave,
I'm a cavernous cave,

I'm a different type of cave know as a grotto,
Usually manmade that's my motto,
I can be artificial and found in a park,

I may have lanterns inside me to banish the dark,
When you think of me think for human purpose,
Modern, prehistoric, or ancient service,

I'm a manmade grotto,
I'm a manmade grotto,

It's me, lava tube, not made by aqua,
Formed over years by molten rock and magma,
I'm subterranean, created under the Earth,

Hawaii, Japan, and Iceland are some places of birth,
I snake beneath your feet, you might never know that I'm here,
But once I'm extinct, you have nothing to fear,

I'm a lava tube, that's me!
I'm a lava tube, that's me!
